SHORT COURSE IN AGRICULTURE

Over Two Hundred Students From All Parts of the Province in Attendance.

The short course in Agriculture opened here on Monday morning. The need of the institution was evidenced by the large number of students in attendance—over two hundred being present. The atmosphere was manifestly one of enthusiasm, and the lecturers are highly pleased with the outlook.

Everything possible has been done by the Board of Trade and the Agricultural Society to provide accommodation for those attending the course, and their ample room for all. The hotels are now nearly filled to their capacity, but good board and rooms can still be secured in private houses.

The old school has been fitted up for the classes. Three rooms have been comfortably seated and the heating is satisfactory. The winter barn has been secured for the accommodation of the stock. Visitors driving in from the country have found no difficulty in finding stabling for their horses, in fact everything is satisfactory.

If the Government wished for evidence of the need of an agricultural college in Alberta, the attendance at the "Short Course" should be sufficient.

The following is the program of each day's lectures:

CHANCES GOOD FOR COLLEGE

Lacombe's Claim on the Agricultural College Recognized by the Government

Probably the best political meeting ever held in Lacombe last night, when for nearly three hours a large number of electors listened to the stirring speeches of Attorney General Cross, W. F. Puffer, M. P. F., and Senator Talbot.

In introducing the speakers Dr. W. J. Simpson, who occupied the chair, made a few brief remarks on the work of the Rutherford administration. After briefly touching on the excellent legislation of the last session he called upon Mr. Puffer to address the meeting.

Senator Talbot followed Mr. Cross and in an able address strongly supported the present Government. His remarks were well received and at the conclusion hearty cheers were given for Mr. Cross, Mr. Puffer and the Senator.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

WILL HAVE RAILWAY

Capital in Sight to Build Lacombe-Rimbey Electric Railway.

Probably no constituency in Alberta has brighter prospects in regard to railways than has Lacombe and the country tributary thereto.

The C. P. R. will commence construction this year, from Cheedle to Alia. The Alberta Midlands Railway from Strathcona to Calgary and Lethbridge will also be started this year.

This is part of the McKenzie and Mann system guaranteed by the Government and will cross the Lacombe constituency at or near Lamerton, Alia, and Content. It is well known that the character of the country is such that it will be impossible to get a crossing on the Red Deer without going very close to each of the above named towns, and the route as agreed upon in their charter compels them to build from Strathcona, to Bitters Lake and Little Beaver Lake, thence in a generally southerly direction to Calgary, so that Lamerton, one of the oldest settlements in the country, is at last to have a railway. This place occupies a strategic position between Spotted Lake and Buffalo Lake and the route between these two lakes, would be about where Lamerton now is.

The Alberta Midlands charter also includes a line from Cochrane to Pigeon Lake and would also cross the Lacombe constituency somewhere West of Bentley, and would traverse a magnificent country where a railway is much needed.

The Alberta Midlands system includes about 1300 miles of line and is to be completed within four years.

In return for the guarantee of bonds to the extent of $15,000,000 per mile, the Government retains a first mortgage on the road and rolling stock, and the control of rates is governed by the Railway Act.

Also this financing a speculative system with the C. P. R.

What will prove the greatest factor however, in the development of the Lacombe District as a whole, is the charter granted for electric railways from Alia via Bullockville, Lacombe, the Gulf Lake summer resort, and Bentley to Rimbey. The whole of the distance being traversed through one of the most populous and fertile sections in Alberta. The charters were obtained not for peddling purposes, but because the railways were an immediate necessity.

A gentleman, representing almost unlimited capital in Europe, is already on his way to Alberta with the object of investigating the propositions, and as the people he represents already have interests in the coal mines near Bullockville and are also seeking exactly such an investment as the people who have obtained the railway charters have to offer, the chances for the immediate construction of the railway is very bright indeed.

As soon as the company can be fully organized and submit a feasible financial proposition, the Provincial Government have given assurance that the same support to the undertaking will be given as the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. have already received. Great credit is due the people of Bentley and Blindman Valley for the enterprise they have shown in this matter and as they themselves are subscribing for stock and mean business, more than ordinary inducement is offered investing capital. There is no lack of money for enterprises of this kind, all that is necessary is the advertising that is being given, and the assurance to capital that the investment is safe, the latter being given by the Government when bond guarantee is made.

AUCTION SALE

W. N. McDermott, of Jesse Valley, will sell on Monday, March 15, 1909, at his farm, S. E. 1/4 of 31-29-25, west of the 4th, his stock, farm implements, etc. 8 horses, 9 dairy cows, 30 head of hoppers and steers, wagons, sleighs, plows, harrows, harness, bladders, mowers, rake, tools, some household furniture, etc., etc. Terms made known date of sale.

H. A. MURPHY, Auctioneer.

Band Meeting.

The second annual meeting of the Lacombe Fireman's Brass Band was held on Friday, Feb. 26. All members were present except those who no doubt found it inconvenient to be present. At 8:30 the motion was made and seconded that the President should take the chair and open the meeting. The president is a few short sentences explained the purpose of the meeting and asked for the treasurer's report. The report showed a balance at present in the bank of $199.88 with no liabilities and a few unpaid debts. The report seemed satisfactory. It was moved by E. Jones and seconded by L. Beatty, that report be accepted. Carried.

The President then called for nominations for honorary president, which were Dr. Sharpe, W. S. Mooney, latter elected.

Nominations for honorary vice-president were N. I. McDermott, Dr. Sharpe, latter elected.

Nominations for president, F. W. Jones, elected.

Nominations for secretary-treasurer were L. W. Donenworth, E. Shilleto, elected.

Nominations for leader, C. A. Mooney, elected.

Nominations for sergeant, F. A. Johnston, elected.

Nominations for a member to make eleven number in business committee, L. W. Donenworth, elected.

Moved by C. A. Mooney, seconded by L. W. Donenworth, that the business committee form a constitution for the band to adopt it soon fit. Carried.

Moved by L. Beatty, seconded by R. G. Gilmore, that the secretary order all member's books and music to be present at next meeting. Carried.

Moved by P. C. Owen, seconded by E. Jones, that a preliminary publication of meeting. Carried.

Moved by P. C. Owen, seconded by R. G. Gilmore, that the meeting adjourn. Carried.

The Elections On.

The elections are on. This announcement was made a few days ago, and the writs were issued on Saturday last. Nomination day has been set for the 15th inst., with the poll one week later—Monday 22nd.

The Liberals of Lacombe got right to work when the announcement was made, and are determined that the Rutherford Government will be sustained so far as this district is concerned.

The Liberal Convention for this Constituency will be held on Friday afternoon next, when a candidate to contest the seat in the Liberal interest will be selected.

So far the only name mentioned in this connection is that of W. F. Puffer, the present member.

Liberals and Conservatives alike are agreed that Mr. Puffer has made an excellent representative, and the leading Conservatives of the district have expressed the opinion that he should receive the seat by acclamation.

No Alberta Constituency has a harder working, more conscientious representative than has Lacombe in W. F. Puffer. Day in and day out for the past four years, even at the loss of his own business, Mr. Puffer has striven to get in touch with all parts of his constituency. If a report reached him that a road was needed in the far east or west he looked the ground over, and then went after the Government. Distance made no difference to him. He invariably got what he went after, and no other constituency in Alberta can boast the number of good roads and bridges we have in this riding. That all the roads we require have not been secured is owing to the fact that the Government of Alberta has not the money to build them. Roads are provided in every portion of the province and millions of dollars are required to build them, and if we have secured our share we should be satisfied.

Mr. Puffer has been an able representative and should again be returned.

A Business-Like Road Policy.

The method on which the Alberta Public Works Department operates is uniform. Trained, experienced, practical men were chosen as heads of each section. To lessen expense of new public buildings, an architectural branch was organized. Like care was taken with the surveying branch, and with those dealing with maps and plans.

The road work is as sound as the Province. It includes minor improvements and extensive works from Chinook, close to the international boundary, and many other points in Southern and Central Alberta. It includes work on the main trunk, 800 miles north of Edmonton, at Peace River Landing, 255 miles northwest of Edmonton; at Dunvegan, 60 miles further west; at Lac la Poudre, and at many other points in the great northwestern hinterland of which Edmonton is the entrance.

In every district a uniform system of road-making is maintained under competent inspectors. Thus no money was wasted on bad methods or impractical methods. Every effort is made to keep pace with the rapid and widespread settlement.

In the making of roads "regulars" are employed—men who make a business of road work as carpenters do of their trade. None of the "slackers" leading of the old Province is seen in Alberta.

In territorial government time money for roads need to be doled out to persons in the various sections at such times as it was convenient for them to give the labor. There was no regularity. The men at work were unused to road making.

Good roads can't be made on such haphazard methods. The season for work is not long. In a country where much is to be done no time must be lost. For this reason the trained road gangs are kept at work throughout the favorable season. They are promptly shifted from point to point as required. At each place the force employed whatever good local labor is available.

The assistant chief engineer of the department supervises all work. Next to him comes the district engineers. Under them is a staff of local inspectors, who are directly responsible to the department. All are under keen supervision.

It is the aim of the department to carry on road making so vigorously that every settler will soon have good roads for communications with his neighbors and easy access to the nearest town.

Alberta's Civil Government.

The cost of Civil Government is the expense of getting the electors' public business done by salaried servants employed by Ministers. In this item Alberta is the model Province of Canada. Her Civil Government is cheap and very good. It cost only $801,385 in three years.

This expense, very small compared with that of Ontario, Quebec, and other Provinces, is explained by the conscientious selection of efficient civil servants, by straight salaried Alberta Ministers, and by the close supervision Ministers gave to the work. Not even the best officials will or can do better, economical work unless the Ministers over them be strict and careful. That is human nature. If Ministers were crooked the civil service would be crooked. Isn't that so? Do you want such a change?

Alberta's Education.

To rear the children of Albertans so that they shall be able not only to prosper individually, but to rightly value and promote in their turn, the welfare of this Province, they must be afforded, cheaply, the inestimable advantages of good, sound education. Future Progress, Prosperity, Liberty, Order, Justice, all alike depend on this in the long run.

Therefore this item comes high in the expense account of the Province. It cost $290,440.00 up to January 1909. This includes free Text-books, which are given almost unconditionally as compared with the parsimonious practice of some other Provinces.

But the expense is small, compared to what it will be when Alberta gets better furnished with necessary railways, roads, bridges, and other prime necessities to agriculture. Nothing pays better than good education. Isn't that so?

It is a pity that even more Alberta money could not have been devoted to that purpose. But railways and other public conveniences are prime necessities in so new a Province as ours, so the Government is bound to provide them as fast as the public resources can. Fortunately railways will, in their turn, all contribute to settlement, population, wealth, provincial revenue, and therefore to the funds for education, in which Alberta means to lead the bunch of Canadian Provinces eventually. The right spirit for providing general education is in Albertans, and Premier Rutherford is the right man in the right place as Minister of Education. Isn't that so?

A Liquor Dealer's Confession.

The claim is sometimes made by temperance orators that prohibition is really in the best interest of the liquor-seller himself. This claim finds rather peculiar corroboration in the statement of a gentleman named Mike O'Grady, whose business of selling liquor in Chattanooga, Tenn., has been rather rudely disturbed by recent legislation. Among other things he said the following: "As for the whiskey mob, it is my personal opinion that after they become settled in some other field of endeavor they will bless the people who liberated them from the official tax gatherer, the extortionate landlord and the voracious political grafter. Ours is anything but a pleasant life. We are vilified by the preachers, scorned by the church people, damned by the toper, and by the politician, and drawn and quartered by the landlord." And all for the sake of a few tainted dollars! Surely they ought to rejoice when they are out of the miserable business.

VISION

A company of travellers were riding across country over the rolling ocean of prairie of Eastern Alberta. For days they had ridden, climbing the long slopes of the great ridges that roll away like ocean waves, only to discover when at the crest that other prairie waves rolled on beyond. It was wearisome to one of the travellers, these endless days on the endless, unhabited spaces. "I don't know what you can see in the prairie to appeal to your affections," he said to the others. "I see comfortable farm houses with fat, sleek, stock, with groves and great barns and growing fields; I see lanes leading away to villages and towns; I see great railways to contain their golden store. I see all this," the other replied. "A population increased by a hundred thousand people of the soil, the happiest and greatest men and women of all the races."

"You have a prophetic vision," taunted the first traveller.

"I have the Alberta vision," replied his friend. And he was right. It is not easy to see the fields and barns, the lanes and villages, in potentiality. It is not easy to see the great chimneys of great factories belching their cloud of black, curling smoke, but they are here in our cities, along our river bluffs, in potentiality. It is not easy to see our cities mounted to six, eight and ten stories, and spread for miles around, to see our streets choked with a countless humanity and the roaring traffic of a great metropolis, but before you and I are grown much older, we will see them, for they are there in the immediate future—strong, restless, potentialities, tugging at their springs.

We of the great last West need to think long and hard to appreciate to the full the rare privilege that is ours, the privilege of living and having a hand in the realization of the great civilization that is breaking upon us. We are living in the crucial moment of a great epoch; we are witnesses to a birth of a new era.

Saliently, we of Alberta are watching the pendulum of political power swing with strong, sure stride from the old to the new, from the East to the West. It is a rare privilege to be participants in such events, to train the groping tendrils of such wonderful growth. A man of London or New York lives his old age amid the unchanged scenes of his youth. But here in Alberta upon the play-ground of the boy, the man will behold the city, and upon the land over which the prairie boy few upon the back of his sure-footed pony in quest of the homestead cow, the man indeed, the young man, will behold a Paradise of rural beauty, and from hill-tops see the smoky trail of the speeding trains and the shafts and steeples of the towns. In the old communities, the inexorable law of necessity urges men to do, and opportunity has been sought in every nook and corner of possibility, but in Alberta, we do for the love of achievement and virgin opportunity trips undisguised along our pathway. In the great cities and the old rural communities, a youth of today will need to practise the greatest economy to achieve a competence for his declining years, but the young man or the middle aged or old of the Alberta of today, may look forward to the half dozen years ahead of us for his ample share of the world's treasure. Your homestead of free gift today will be worth five thousand dollars, your land at ten dollars on easy payments today will be worth fifty cents. Your village lot for the proverbial song today will be worth enough to start you up in business, and the corner grocer-man of today will find himself the master of his fate, an independent citizen. The comparatively small sum of our provincial wealth will swell to figures that would sound too visionary to name today, and in that tremendous growth you and I if we are not sleepers, must share handsomely. Every man of Alberta today, whatever his lot or position, should be a man of independent means six years from now, for of a certainty this wonderful transformation is to be realized.

For a number of years the eyes of the world have been turning Albertward and hither have come men inquiring. Always the land has profited by the investigation and everywhere has developed a wonderful spirit to move to Alberta. And people have come, the right kind of people and cost of anchor, and sent back for their friends, and the number has become so great and the movement Albertward so strong, that it is ready to assume the proportions of a great industrial crusade. The one thing that will launch it is the entrance upon an era of active railway construction. This we have undertaken. Quietly, without any blare of trumpets, we have negotiated for the doubling of our present mileage for roads to give adequate service and competition in the south, for roads to reach into the great treasure vaults of the north. In their progress southward the two great northern systems will treasure this ocean of prairie, the great country of the Red Deer, a country as great in resources as the mother Isis. Along the five fingers of the Red Deer lie the undulating tongues of land of the finest quality of soil, capable of supporting in luxury all our present population, but as yet unfruitful of wealth for lack of the roads we are building. Two roads through that beautiful, splendidly watered, richly endowed region, will call into life no less than twenty towns and attract at once twenty thousand families to jump into the game of creating wealth. It is a pleasure for an Albertan to think this, to say it, to hear the words. They sound like ready money.

Two lines will cross this country, two at the least, and a land now idle will be awakened to the harvest of seventy million bushels of dollar wheat. There are resources sufficient in those Red Deer prairies to double the wealth and population of our present cities if we realize their development, and this these roads will do. Now all this possibility lies beyond the reach of commerce, and all the men who have looked their faith in the country's future are waiting out there, helpless in their isolation. To their relief the roads are to be dispatched, as if in vindication of their confidence in the Government. It will be a great day for Alberta, when the first trains go roaring over those Red Deer plains, and then they do not stop until the boundary and the farthest southwest is reached. They will pass by the granaries of the Carmen Gay farm, where last fall forty thousand bushels of wheat could not be marketed; by the granaries of other countless farms of that great belt where the wheat was sold in many cases as often as three and four times before delivery could be effected. They will go on to develop the great country west of the Blood reservation, far to where the wheat lands meet the timber, affording service to the plucky frontiersmen in those far out places and bringing great increase of values to countless acres.

And in the other direction is greater romance.

From the southern boundary to Ft. McMurray the gaps will be closed and a north and south system completed above five hundred and sixty miles in length. At Ft. McMurray it will touch the great waterways, making available thousands of miles of lake and river navigation, opening to the exploiting energy of the world a region as great as a continent, as rich in possibilities of mineral wealth as the Alaskan peninsula.

To reach this northern point the road will travel a country as rich in agricultural possibilities as the country near to Lacombe. It does not cross a great extent of worthless land, but every mile of it will justify itself with the local traffic. At Ft. McMurray is touched a field of asphalt estimated by Dominion geologists to be a thousand square miles in extent, to contain about four billion tons of pure bitumen. Here is asphalt for all Canada for all time, and so plentiful is the commodity and so near to our doors that Alberta ought soon to become known as the country of paved streets and lanes. Here is the world's greatest well of natural gas, the world's greatest gas supply, and a number of commodities which because of the cheap heat can be utilized to great profit.

Here are extensive mines of salt, salt lake glaciers, in ravines, pure salt ready for the table. Here are mines of sulphur that has been deposited by force of internal heat. These are the four unfailing indications of the presence of petroleum. Results has become in the last dozen years the world's greatest petroleum producer. Twelve years ago her treasure was undiscovered. What will be the yield of the Athabasca field? Where there are such vast extents of bitumen, such wells of gas, such fields of salt and sulphur there must be oil, and when our northern road discovers it, the man who can keep abreast of the Alberta boom will need to be a traveller. Then here will be found iron, and lead and copper, the country of the Athabasca will prove to be the last great mineral zone and over that line to the north will go millions of wealth for exploitation and over it will be brought back to build up our cities and make for our greater civilization, the fruits of the search. In the great north we have the complement of the south and a country that has within its borders agricultural and mineral wealth like ours surely may count herself among the chosen. It is our privilege and our pleasure to touch the spring of these wonderful potentialities and to redeem from the stores of nature all this world of wealth for the use and pleasure of this generation. It is not given to us to live forever, and we deserve to enjoy the pleasures that come with material wealth and political power before our sun goes down.

To avail ourselves of this benefit, we must have the roads. To avail Alberta of this great wealth we must have lines from our southern boundary to the far north. To realize the greatest profit from the development we must have the roads that run far north and south. We have roads to the east, and roads to the west are building. The opportunity for our wealth to flow to the east and the west is too ample; we must build up a great system north and south. This we are doing, and before many more harvests come round it will be done. This will build great distributing cities within our border and keep the money for our wheat and stock at home.

Already we are beginning to experience the first results of our policy. In the cities of the middle states, there is a great and increasing demand for cars in which to ship settlers' effects to Alberta. This summer they will arrive by tens of thousands. They will fill up our prairie south and east and push on into our prairie north, the warmest north in the world. Is it not strange when you think of it that the Alberta north, the warmest north in the globe by reason of its nearness to the Pacific, the influence of the warm Pacific stream and other conditions is the last north to become known to the world's people? St. Petersburg, a city of a million and a quarter population is in the latitude of the mouth of the Peace River and so far removed from any moderating influences that its cold is much more severe than the cold of northern Alberta. Here we have the true chinook, the wind that comes on the spring tide, driving away the snow in a night and sending the flood of sap rushing into the twigs. The spring of the north is the most marvellous of springs and the growing and maturing power of the summer is intense. Here we have room for a million people without the slightest crowding and they can live in far greater comfort than the people of north central Russia. This country is all tributary to the Peace and will be reached by the road to McMurray and the co-operation boat service. Here will flock the overflow crowd and settlement of the north will be of incalculable value to the south, by moving the south relatively farther away from the land of too great cold. When the world fears that a great agrarian people are flocking into Alberta's north, her far south will appear away moved toward the tropics. So our policy will not only give the farmer of the South the service his business requires, will not only give the prairies of the south the service their development requires, but it will add to the value of the south by removing it away from the rim of things in the north where the world believes it to be too cold.

This is a big program—but ours is a big country. When you consider that we are twice the size of England, larger by far than the German Empire or the Republic of France, when you remember that our Peace River country is larger than Japan and that Japan spent millions of her wealth and sacrificed the lives of tens of thousands of her sons for the sake of room in which to grow, can we not appreciate the heritage that is ours, and can we not appreciate the necessity, at least the opportunity, to undertake and carry to completion a railway development policy fruitful of an empire.

BENTLEY NEWS.

We are enjoying fine first of March weather.

We have got the charter for the Lacombe and Blindman Valley Railway, but no guarantee of bonds for our road. Already two firms of capitalists appear to be trying to obtain the charter.

The entertainment and box social last Wednesday night at the hall, was a success, and the earnings for the Literary Society for horse sold was $42.35. The play, "Box and Cox," was quite a hit.

and will be played at a later date, together with "My Turn Next," at the hall. Watch for bills.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thorp, of Rimbey, spent Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, last, around these parts.

The spring building season is opening up. B. Williams is finishing up his addition, and Jas. B. McPherson is building a barn. The vacant houses are all taken and do not meet the demand at present.

The dance in the McPherson Hall Saturday night, was well attended and enjoyed by all.

The Rev. T. Powell, of Lacombe, held services in the Bentley church last evening.

RIMBEY ITEMS.
Mr. Herbert Thorp and wife of Rimbey, were in Wessville the first of the week.

Dr. W. A. Campbell, of Ponoka, was in Rimbey Monday on business. This was his first visit to Rimbey and thought it was the prettiest townsite west of Ponoka.

The warm weather has caused a good many people to have bad colds, it seems.

The Boss carpenter, Mr. B. T. Rimbey, has again started work on the English church.

Mr. J. Everts, of Wittenburg, is freighting lumber to Rimbey, and dry goods and groceries back to his small store at Wittenburg.

There are Methodist services at the Rimbey school house every Sunday. Sunday School is at 2:30 p. m. and preaching at 3:30 p. m. Preaching is conducted by the Revs. Holly and Neville, of Bentley.

Everybody has been awakened since the warm snap. One can hear the thug of sawmill and grinder and the buzz of a wood saw all at one time.

The C. N. E. surveyors were at P. Flag's Feb. 26th, 6 miles north and 4 miles east of Rimbey, and are expected to come some where near Rimbey by the week end.

THE ALLEN PLAYERS.
A Strong Attraction to Appear Here.

Commencing Monday, March 8, and continuing three nights, the Allen players will appear at the Opera House in three great plays—Monday, La Belle Marie; Tuesday, Zaza, and Wednesday, the Sultan's Daughter. The Edmonton Journal of March 1st had the following to say of this excellent company:

"The curtain rose last Saturday night to a full and appreciative house for the final performance of the Allen Stock company, in that well known and popular drama, "Zaza," in which the title role is taken by Miss Verna Felton. Miss Felton has shown herself to be an actress of extraordinary versatility and in "Zaza" she has a part that gives full scope to her great emotional abilities. All parts appear to be alike to her, from the highest drama to the lightest comedy, as witness her great performance in Lira, La Belle Marie, Paid in Full, The Bishop's Carriage, The Sultan's Daughter, All Due to Diana, etc., etc. Mrs. Clara Allen is a comedy actress of the highest class, who scores a success in every part she undertakes. Miss Marie Thompson and Miss Ella Houghton are two excellent actresses who have always presented their parts with that excellency which has become associated with this company. Mr. Irving Kennedy is a young actor of exceptional talent, and has always been enthusiastically received in all parts he has taken. Mr. Chas. Ayres also shows himself to be an actor of the highest class who adapts himself to all parts with equal vigor. Mr. Donald Patterson likewise shows his ability in the many different roles he undertakes. Mr. Albin Le Vore is a rising comedian, and taken all round a more talented company has never visited this city. During their five months stay in Edmonton this company has produced over forty different plays, all of which have been on enthusiastically received, and on Saturday night regrets could be heard on all sides at the departure of the talented company, who have made so many friends in this city. We hope it will not be long before the Allen Stock company pay us a return visit, as they will always be sure of a hearty welcome from their many friends."
